Jay Gruen presents Introduction to Contemporary Homesteading at the Dutchess County Fair

Rhinebeck NY – Having spent over 20 years in the Green Industry, mostly as a Landscape Designer, Jay Guren has a strong background in construction, masonry, horticulture and design. He has also worked in Environmental Education and the Non-Profit field.

About 8 years ago Jay started to take an interest in where families food comes from. He dove head first into the world of Homesteading through books, documentaries and anywhere else he could obtain information...in short it became obsession.

Jay is a homesteader now, where he is afforded the unique opportunity to bring all that he has learned, and continue to learn to a worldwide audience. His obsession has led him to his own television show “Unplugged Nation” on the FYI network, Amazon Prime, Itunes and Google Play.

Jay will be sharing his knowledge of Contemporary Homesteading on Friday, August 26 from 4:30pm – 5:30pm in the Horticulture Building.

The Dutchess County Fair begins its six day run August 23 – 28. For more information please visit www.dutchessfair.com.
