Vocal Trash Rocks the Entertainment Stage

July 28th, 2017

Rhinebeck, NY - Vocal Trash, once again will present their seemingly endless high energy show in the Entertainment Tent at the Dutchess County Fair. These world class entertainers have toured extensively, made guest appearances on morning shows, been the subject of countless news articles and earned a substantial grass-roots fan base from New York to Seattle and abroad.

Vocal Trash plays to sell-out crowds all across the nation, presenting their own "wow factor" experience and making them a hit with a variety of venues. Their "feel good" music appeals to every age group and has been known to get people up and dancing in the aisles. This energetic group combines uniquely upcycled musical instruments, such as their "one of a kind" tool box bass and guitar and an upright milk urn bass, with an industrial percussion section made-up of metal trash cans, PVC pipes, pots and pans, water bottles, and other landfill-rescued items. After 90 minutes of non-stop action you will have witnessed award winning break-dancing, singing, tap dancing, comedy and much, much more. Truly a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

The other angle to Vocal Trash is their revolutionary THINK Program. Utilizing song and dance, the universal languages, the curriculum provides useful methods our youth can apply for a sustainable life. This style of "edu-tainment" is a powerful tool to teach young minds to use their imagination in a meaningful way by reusing items that would normally end up in a landfill.

Visit dutchessfair.com for Vocal Trash's show schedule and more information about the the Dutchess County Fair which begins its six day run August 22.
